ABOUT

Hey, It's me Md Ariful Islam. I am junior front-end web developer. I can make website with react, mongoDB, express, node js ,firebase, html, css and tailwind css. Currently, I am studying in computer science and engineering department at World University of Bangladesh.

I am very passionate about coding. Whenever I encounter a random error in any big project, I remind myself that there must be a solution. Whether I solve it today or tomorrow, I feel at ease because I know that as a programmer, encountering problems is part of the job. Errors are bound to happen again, so I don't take them too seriously. I am always ready for new challenges.
